SECOND LIBERTY LOAN

Amounted to $1,617,532,300 — Over Subscription of Fifty-six Per Cent Is Announced By Secretary of the Treasury.

Washington, November 7—Americans responded to the call for a second Liberty war loan by subscribing $1,617,532,300, an over-subscription by 56 per cent. of $3,200,000,000 asked. Tabulations completed tonight, eleven days after the close of the nationwide bond selling campaign, showed that every federal reserve district exceeded its quota and 9,400,000 persons subscribed in the big war financing described as the greatest ever attempted by any government.

Half of the over-subscribed sum will be accepted, making the actual total of bonds to be issued $3,808,765,150. Ninety-nine per cent. of the subscribers will receive the amount for which they bargained, all subscriptions for $50,000 or less being allotted in full and those above that amount being pared down in varying proportions, ranging from a ninety per cent. allowance on subscriptions between $50,000 and $100,000 to forty per cent. for the largest single subscription of $50,000,000.

"The success of the second Liberty Loan, like that of the first, is a distinct triumph for the people of the United States," said Secretary McAdoo, announcing the loan results to-night. "It not only demonstrated their ability, patriotism and resources, but augers the certain success of any future loans that may be offered by the government."

The Secretary added a denial of reports that the third loan would be solicited in January, 1918.

"In view of the large over-subscription of the second Liberty Loan," he said, "I am glad to state that this will not be necessary."

It has been generally understood that the third loan would be sought probably in late February or early March next year.

DEVS* HOLD WHIP HAND IN ASSEMBLY

Dry victories returned at the polls Tuesday in a majority of counties in the State practically insures submission of a State-wide dry measure to the people of Kentucky at the polls next fall. Incomplete returns shows the Democrats winners in many counties in which contests were afforded, but the majority of the new Representatives are dry.

All members of Maysville Aerie No. 1564 I. O. O. E. are requested to be present tonight. Annual Inspection by District Deputy Brother Harry Peter.

DUKE A. RUDY, W. P.

The Mason County Board of Election Commissioners will meet at the County Clerk's office tomorrow to canvass the county and city vote and to issue the official count.

PROHIBITION RESULT

BILL IN DOUBT IN OHIO — WETS AND DRIES BOTH CLAIM THAT ERRORS HAVE BEEN MADE—BOTH SIDES WILL FIGHT TO THE FINISH.

Cincinnati, Ohio, November 7—At midnight a number of the missing precincts were reported and the drys once more assumed the lead in the prohibition race in Ohio. With 6,712 out of 6,756 precincts in the state board from prohibition was leading by 1,446 votes. The vote stood: For prohibition, 515,430; against prohibition, $513,984.

Columbus, Ohio, November 7—Reports from Cincinnati late today that an error of ten thousand or twelve thousand had been made in the count of the wet and dry vote there, thus giving the state to the wets after it apparently had been won by the drys, caused Governor James M. Cox this evening to call in Secretary of State W. D. Fulton, head of the state election machinery, and Assistant Secretary of State Gregory and instructed them that speedy and thorough investigation of the Cincinnati situation should be made. Hamilton county is the wet stronghold of the state. Counting the alleged correction there, the wets had a lead of 6,444 with 246 precincts still to be counted.

Tonight a report was received from Cleveland through an error discovered there would add 3,500 votes to the dry total in Cuyahoga county. Dry leaders announced tonight that they have begun a private investigation of the Cincinnati and will fight the wets to a finish.

If the alleged mistake at Cincinnati had not been found, the drys would have been victorious with a safe margin. Tonight the drys did not hesitate to charge they had been counted out. In his talk with Fulton and Gregory late today, Governor Cox declared that vigilance and caution must be exercised to assure an honest count. He promised them every aid possible in their investigation. Fulton then called upon the Hamilton county election officials for a full review of the situation at once. He wants to know how the mistake occurred; and, if it really did occur, how it was discovered. The wet and dry result has swung first from one side to the other since early last night. Late today the drys had obtained a fairly safe lead with returns from rural counties when Cincinnati suddenly reported the alleged miscalculation. The first announcement came from L. H. Gibson, the manager of the wet campaign, and drys declare it significant that the first word should come from the wet headquarters instead of from the election board.

J. A. White, superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League, tonight issued a statement in which he picked flaws in the explanation offered by the wets for the alleged error in Cincinnati. He said the claim of error was not put forth until after the wets found they had been defeated. "We still claim victory, even with this error," Mr. White said. "We do not propose to be counted out of an election fairly won." He said many believe there had been juggling with the election figures and that every suspicious circumstance would be probed.

SHIPPING CANNED TOMATOES TO M. C. RUSSELL CO.

The Flemingsburg Times-Democrat says: For years we have been in the habit of seeing canned tomatoes brought here to supply the local community, and at the same time our people where allowing hundreds of bushels of tomatoes to rot in their gardens every fall. Last week the current of shipment was reversed when W. H. Fischer began the shipment of a big lot of tomatoes to the M. C. Russell Co. of Maysville. These tomatoes were canned by M. R. Ritchie at his cannery near Wallingford, and the canners of Calvin Hester and Frank Marshall & Son in the same vicinity also put up good packs this season.

BIG BOAT STRANDED

"Jim Wood" hangs up on check post at Lock and Dam No. 33 and will have to be wrecked—Four men have narrow escape from death.

The towboat "Jim Wood" of Pittsburgh, Pa., one of the most powerful boats on the upper Ohio River, snagged a hole in her hull yesterday about noon by striking a check post on the lower guide wall of Lock and Dam No. 33, just above the city, causing the boat to become lodged upon the wall.

The boat was attempting to pass Dam No. 33 by going through the lock chamber, which is on the Kentucky side of the river. In swinging toward the bank in order to get into position to go through the lock chamber, the boat struck an iron check post about 6 inches in diameter on the lower guide wall, which was about six feet under water. A large hole was torn in the hull of the boat. Siphons were immediately put into use to keep the hull as free of water as possible and carpenters and laborers were drafted from the force of the Bates and Riglers Construction Co., contractors at Dam No. 33, to stop the leak as soon as possible.

The U. S. Government boats, the "Miami" and "Guyandot" which were tied up on the Ohio shore, came to the assistance of the disabled boat by taking care of her tow of nine barges and in assisting in siphoning the hull. About 3 o'clock members of the crew of the boat began removing their personal belongings from the boat, fearing that she was doomed to sink.

Four men of the contractor's force at the dam had a very narrow escape from drowning a few moments after the accident occurred. Messrs. Louis Sieber, foreman, William Geites, Charles Jones and J. Bradford, all carpenters, put out in a small yawl to get to the towboat to help stop the hole in the hull. The current above the boat was very swift and the yawl got out of the control of the men, floating directly underneath a barge in the tow of the "Wood." The men saved themselves by jumping on the barge, the yawl being swept under. Mr. Jones lost a very valuable set of carpenter tools. The four men had a very narrow escape from death.

The river fell two feet last night and left the big boat stranded upon the wall. During the night the boat turned completely around, the check post acting as a pivot. The only remedy now is to wreck the boat and save as much of the machinery as possible.

THE NEW BATTLEGROUND

"The Germans beckon us to the Italian front," says the military correspondent of the London Times, "and with a very hearty good-will we shall oblige them."

Here is an aspect of the Tentative invasion of Italy that is new to most observers, particularly in America. We have been looking upon the Italian situation as offering no possible advantage to the Allies—as either a downright disaster, or at best, a hurtful blow partially parried. But the sentence quoted has a ringing note of optimism. Can it be that England and France, in rushing their troops and guns to northern Italy in large numbers, have really been doing so "with a hearty good-will?"

The New York Times, whose opinion on military matters carries more weight than that of any other American newspaper, is disposed to accept this view. The German drive into Italy, says the Times, may turn from a calamity to a blessing. The rival armies have been practically deadlocked on the western front. Britain and France have gained steadily, but so slowly that a definite decision there might be a matter of years. But in Italy the German army driving down from the Austrian Alps may be met in the open, may be defeated and routed, opening the Central Empires themselves to invasion and conquest. And the fighting is much better in Italy at this season of the year.

It appears that the Allies, in their Paris conference, have really decided to transfer their main field of winter warfare from cold, muddy Flanders and France to Italy.

"Thus," says the Times, "it seems probable that the whole aspect of the war may have been changed in the twinkling of an eye; that the Allies have the intention of making Italy the great battleground for the defeat of Germany; and it certainly seems that their opportunities on such a battleground are very much greater than they could become for a long time in the northern field. Germany may have issued the challenge, that, being accepted, will end the war."

News may come at any moment confirming this view, or belying it. But the mere possibility set forth is so spectacular and fascinating that it lends added zest to the interest with which Americans are watching the coming of those great armies to a clinch on the Italian plain.

BUTTER

Another time-honored graft has been swept away by the war broom. The government has put the Elgin Butter Board out of business. A quiet little order issued by the food administration has accomplished a reform that has hitherto proved too much for legislature and courts.

It shouldn't ever have been a difficult task, anybody would think. The New York World gravely remarks that there never was any Elgin Butter Board. It was a monumental bluff. But it worked.

A few Chicago men operating in its name have long fixed butter prices for the whole country. They would decide how much 100,000,000 people ought to pay for butter the following week, then take a train out to Elgin, file into a little office, file out again and put some figures on the wires. And every dealer in America set his prices accordingly.

Those figures purported to be reports of bona fide butter sales. Perhaps there really were a few tubs of butter standing around the place for window-dressing. But those men represented a speculative and oppressive monopoly which wielded mysterious power and successfully defied the law.

Now the board is no more. And word goes around that dealers are "lost" without its guiding figures to tell them what to sell their butter for.

Here's a suggestion. Suppose they base their prices on what they have paid for their butter.

Some people that can't get admitted into even ordinary society are dead sure they'll get into heaven.

Today becomes yesterday so fast that a fellow's predictions become remiseenes before he realizes it.

There's one thing about politeness—it never has to be apologized for afterward.

Mistakes will happen—and if a fellow isn't on the job every minute they'll pile up, too.

Backache of Women

How this Woman Suffered and Was Relieved.

Fort Fairfield, Maine.—"For many months I suffered from backache caused by female troubles so I was unable to do my house work. I took treatments for it but received no help whatever. Then some of my friends asked why I did not try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I did so and my backache soon disappeared and I felt like a different woman, and now have a healthy little baby girl and do all my house work. I will always praise Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to women who suffer as I did."—Mrs. ALTON D. OAKES, Fort Fairfield, Maine.

THE RELATION BETWEEN THE CHEMICAL AND BACTERIAL

In the analysis of water supplies for purity it is possible to determine the purity from two angles. One: to see whether it is chemically pure and: Two: to see whether it is free from bacteria.

Chemical analysis reign supreme when it is desired to discover the presence of lead or other inorganic poisons, also in discovering the hard-constipation.

And Sour Stomach Caused This Lady Much Suffering. Black-Draught Relieved.

Meadows, Ky.—Mrs. Pearl Patrick, of this place, writes: "I was very constipated. I had sour stomach and was uncomfortable. I went to the doctor. He gave me some pills. They weakened me and seemed to tear up my digestion. They would grip me and afterwards it seemed I was more constipated than before. I heard of Black-Draught and decided to try it. I found it just what I needed. It was an easy laxative, and not bad to swallow. My digestion soon improved. I got well of the sour stomach, my bowels soon seemed normal, no more griping, and I would take a dose now and then, and was in good shape."

I cannot say too much for Black-Draught for it is the finest laxative one can use."

Theodore's Black-Draught has for many years been found of great value in the treatment of stomach, liver and bowel troubles. Easy to take, gentle and reliable in its action, leaving no bad after-effects, it has won the praise of thousands of people who have used it.

ness, mineral and solid constituents, but chemical methods cannot discover infection.

The real test lies in the fact whether water contains germs that may prove harmful to our general welfare and health.

The water samples sent away by the Survey Force have been examined with this end in view, namely, to see whether they contained the Colon Bacillus, a germ normally inhabiting the intestinal tract.

If the reports come back positive it is evidence that in some way water supplies are becoming infected with sewerage. Although the Colon Bacillus is in itself perfectly harmless its presence indicates that it is possible for the more dangerous germs such as typhoid fever, the various dysenteries, tuberculosis of the bowels, etc., to gain access to the water supply in question.

Although the report on water may come back pure from a strictly chemical standpoint, it may at the same time contain sewerage bacteria which would be impossible to find by chemical analysis alone. This would tend to give the consumer of the water supply a feeling of false security.

Several instances of this nature have been called to the attention of the Survey Force where only chemical tests were made.

In order to make a test for water purity complete the Survey Force would suggest that any one wishing to have their water supply analysed by a private laboratory or the state laboratory to make the request that a bacterial test be made for the presence of the Colon Bacillus, for in this way only can we be assured of the safety of the water supply.

In The Day's News
One of the most interesting members of the new French Ministry is Senator Jean Dupuy, who has been appointed a Secretary of State and a member of the War Committee. He is the proprietor of the "Petit Parisien," a paper which has one of the largest circulations in the world, and consequently his influence in France is enormous. For more than 25 years he has been a senator and has held ministerial office on several occasions. Curiously enough, he is a man of no very pronounced political views, and in a personal sense is not so widely known as many of his less influential colleagues. He possesses great wealth but riches and position have not made him other than one of the most unassuming of men.

The two pictures are of the same young man. The first was taken the day he enlisted and the second after he had had five months' military training. His home is in North Carolina.

earning capacity, and that it was the best investment any young man could make.

"Billie, if you will go up to my room and bring my small handbag, I will let you see two photographs of the same young man showing what only five months of intensive training on the Mexican border did for him."

The bag was brought. Uncle Dan, showing the pictures, said: "Well, here they are. They tell their own story and it is a mighty interesting one. The young man, before training, has a disengaged look; he has seen but little of the world. There was very little in his surroundings to bring him out. When he joined the colors and Uncle Dan took him in charge, life for him took on a new meaning. He saw a chance to do something and he did something. He woke up. His captain says he is twice the man he was when he joined the army. This may be one of the extreme cases" said Uncle Dan. "I can tell you, though, that war or no war, no one thing will do the young men of this nation so much good in so short a time as a few months of intensive military training. It fits a man to fight his own life battles in the business world as well as to defend his country and its flag.

"Nearly every civilized country gives its boys military training. It is compulsory. It is based upon the fact that it is the duty of everyone to help defend his country; and as war is now carried on, no one can do much unless he is trained. Also, the records show that the killed and wounded among untrained troops is nearly three times as great as it is with well-trained men who know how to fight and how to protect themselves. By this plan a nation has trained men to defend her and the individual is a stronger and better man for the training.

"If the Chamberlain Bill for Military Training is passed by congress, as it ought to be, the same thing would be done for millions of other young men throughout the land. Everybody ought to demand of his congressman and senators the passage of this bill."

"All right, sir, exclaimed Jimmie, we will see Judge Brownell, Mr. Haskett, and Professor Slocum, and get them busy."

COLORED SOLDIER

Writes Interesting Letter From Camp Custer To His Father in This City.

Camp Custer, Sunday afternoon.

Dear Dad:

It has been a long time since I have heard from you or Pud Bert. I am in camp now and believe me I am sure busy. If any one had told me that I would ever work so hard I think I would have knocked him down. But I rather like it and feel fine. I get up every morning at 5:30 sharp. Reveille is at 5:55 and breakfast is at 6:30. By 7 o'clock we are on 5 or 6 miles cross country hike or on the drill grounds for two or three hours at a time.

Some training and it is that way all day long. We have to be in the barracks at 9 o'clock every night as the lights go out then.

When I left the boys gave me a great blow out and the church gave me a beautiful wrist watch with the inscription on the back from Arnett Chapel to Adworth Lewis, October 29, 1917. It certainly is a beauty and I am sure proud of it.

There are about 700 of us here now and I am in the first company which is supposed to leave here the first of the year for some camp in New York. I rather like it though but some times I get quite lonesome for some of my gang. You know I was the only one or rather colored man to go from Grand Rapids on this draft. Has Pud gone yet or did he get exempted?

Write me as soon as possible as I must hurry for roll call.

Address my mail to Private Adworth Lewis, 1st Company—Colored Infantry, Camp Custer, Battle Creek, Mich.

The teachers and officers of the Christian Sunday School will meet at the church tonight at 7 o'clock in connection with the Teachers' Training Class.

WOMAN'S COMMITTEE

Of the Council of National Defense To Hold Meeting at Public Library Saturday Afternoon at 2 O'clock.

On Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the reading room of the Public Library will be held a meeting of the Woman's Committee of the Council of National Defense. The purpose of the meeting is for permanent organization and consideration of the question of the registration of the volunteer services of women in Mason county in the event that the government should in a time of crisis need it.

The Council of National Defense is a body authorized by Act of Congress in August 1916, consisting of the Secretaries of War, Navy, Interior, Commerce, Labor and Agriculture.

This Council has power to organize subordinate bodies of which the Woman's Committee is one.

The purpose of the Woman's Committee is to coordinate the activities and resources of the organized and unorganized women of America that the woman power of the United States may be utilized immediately in any time of need; and to supply a direct channel of intercourse between women and government departments and is the only body having been given by the government direction of woman's work for the war. All services of women along defense and patriotic lines are through the Woman's Committee of the Council of National Defense connected with the government.

The Woman's Committee was appointed by the Council of National Defense in April 1917, and consists of the following women:

Dr. Anna Howard Shaw, Chairman. Mrs. Phillip R. Moore, St. Louis, President National Council of Women. Mrs. Maud Wetmore, Rhode Island, Chairman of the National League for Women Service.

Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, President of the National American Woman Suffrage Organization.

Mrs. Flunk, Chicago, Lawyer member of the Woman's Democratic League for Wilson.

Mrs. Stanley McCormick, Vice President American Suffrage Association.

Mrs. Joseph Lamar, Atlanta, President of the Wm. Sec. of Colonial Dames.

Miss Agnes Nester, Vice President of the International Glove Makers' Union.

Miss Ida Tarbell, New York, Publicist and Writer.

These women were appointed as individuals regardless of any organization they might represent that they might be brought together to consider and advise how the assistance of the women of America may be available in the prosecution of the war and it is earnestly requested that all women of Maysville and the county, who are president or Chairman of any organized body of women will come or in case they cannot come, will send their representation to meet at the Library at 2 o'clock on Saturday, for the purpose of considering the fact that for the first time in its history the government is asking that the woman power of the nation be called for services and to that end has issued a registration card so that every woman may offer voluntarily her services to the government in the event they should be needed.

Don't forget! Saturday—the Library—2 o'clock.
